

Dina Kallay

Dina Kallay serves as Deputy Assistant Attorney General (DAAG) at the U.S. Department of Justice Antitrust Division. Prior to joining the DOJ in 2025, she was Head of Antitrust at Ericsson. Between 2006-2013 Dina served as Counsel for Intellectual Property and International Antitrust at the U.S. Federal Trade Commission, where she focused on antitrust-intellectual property matters as well as multilateral and Asian competition matters. Prior to that, she practiced antitrust and intellectual property law at a number of law firms, most recently with the Washington DC office of Howrey LLP. She also worked as in-house antitrust counsel for Microelectrónica Española.

In 2000-2001, Ms. Kallay clerked at the European Commission Directorate General for Competition (DG COMP) Unit for Information Industries and Consumer Electronics, where she worked on unilateral conduct and intellectual property related enforcement and policy matters.

Ms. Kallay holds an LL.M and doctorate from the University of Michigan Law School and has written and spoken extensively on antitrust issues, especially international antitrust and antitrust-intellectual property interface topics. She also taught these subjects as an adjunct professor at the Georgetown Law Center, Hebrew University, and Bar Ilan University.
