"TREE DAY"
To be Observed—Campus to be Beautified.

This spring plans are to be started to beautify Buchtel's already fine campus. Trees, shrubs, elms and poplars, are to be planted along the walks leading from the main building to the gymnasium, from Buchtel avenue to the buildings, and from the gymnasium to the academy building. A poplar thicket is to be planted in the rear of the gymnasium, and ivy vines are to be started, which will cover the walls of the gym in a few years. Other trees are to be started around the campus in places needed, and the drives are to be gravelled.

In addition to this a so-called 'Tree Holiday' is to be observed on May 17. On this day each class of the college and academy will plant a tree which will become the class tree. The entire day is to be observed as a holiday. In the morning Professor R. G. Moulton, who at the present time holds the chair of Literature in English at Chicago university, will deliver an address in the gymnasium. This is considered a rare opportunity, as Professor Moulton is ranked as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, interpreter of Literature in America.

In the afternoon the trees will be planted. Each class will hold its own exercises around its tree, which will probably consist of an address, a class poem, and possibly a class song. These will be held on the campus, and the students will go from one class tree to another till the rounds are made.

In the evening some sort of a social, dance, or banquet will be given in the gym. 'Tree Holiday' will probably be made the annual gala day of the college year. It is so observed in many of the large colleges of the country, and it has been trotting that it started at Buchtel.

The poor, besighted Hindoo.
He does the best he knows;
He sticks to his caste from first to last.
And for pants he makes his skindo.

FELLOWSHIP IN COLUMBIA.
Professor S. P. Orth is Awarded One.

Professor S. P. Orth has been awarded a fellowship by the faculty of Columbia university. The fellowship is one of thirty-eight awarded by Columbia. These amount to about $16,000 in the aggregate, and the successful candidates come from twenty different states and territories. There were nearly one hundred applicants, and the annual value of each fellowship, under constitutional law, is $500.

Professor Orth has not decided as yet what action he will take in the matter, but it has been reported that he has decided to accept the offer of a year's leave of absence to take advantage of this opportunity.

The words of a popular college song run as follows:

Deep down into each city's eyes
We gazed, my love and I.
Chased to my breast the heart I prized,
No living creature nigh.
And in love's fond delight I pressed Her warm, soft cheek to mine,
And felt that not the gods themselves
Had raptures so divine.

She spoke even as the whispering Of gentle, moon-lit wave—
'Before you do this kind of thing I really wish—you'd shave.'
"Songs of Western Colleges."

We have recently received a copy of "Songs of Western Colleges," published by Hinds & Noble, of New York city. The book is a very fine one, both in respect to composition and arrangement, containing not only many popular and unique songs, but several very good ones in respect to words and music as well. Songs of several Ohio colleges makes it especially interesting.
